

Is the sole purpose of government to protect individual rights? Or is it to shake individuals down and keep a watchful eye on them and make sure they obey ALL dictates? Of course failure to obey—even the slightest infraction—is just a continuance of the $hakedown.

This racketeering is neatly on display in local governments everywhere. Not only is there an open conspiracy to collude in the endless extortion schemes as witnessed by identical ordinances spreading throughout the United States in annual waves. There is the conspiracy of the mob. Just like the Mafiosi, every government attracts and is run as a syndicate waving a flag while they demand protection money to leave their victims alone. No greasy city attorney, municipal black robed pirate, despotic bureaucratic chief or bloviating elected hack survives long if they actually intend to work for the citizens rather than work for their wallets. The entire government coexists to plunder all who pass within their rasp. No scheme is too outrageous. And the free market or capitalism are just patriotic jingoism to spread to the masses while diligently working to rip them off.

Our latest project fittingly involves taking out the trash.
